

Community Emergency Response Team Training

What would you do if you found yourself or your community in the middle of a disaster or emergency situation? How would you respond? Would you be prepared to act? Would you know what to do? CERT (Community Emergency Response Team) training will help you answer these questions and will assist you in building a highly effective response team for your community.

Join us for a 2-day instructor-led CERT Basic Training course. Training will include areas such as personal preparedness, self-care, public interaction, fire suppression, and food handling. Through this training CERT members will be prepared to help their communities before, during, and after an emergency or disaster. It will culminate in a scenario-based exercise to put what has been learned into practice.
